Aloha Plenty Artists – Doug & Sandy McMaster

Doug & Sandy McMaster live on the island of Kauai in Hawaii. Playing slack key since he was 6 years old, Doug learned through the years that along with this gift comes a responsibility (kuleana) to continue the tradition (ho'oumau). He and Sandy have played together since the late 1970's, dedicating their energy and talents to preserving, promoting, and perpetuating the beautiful art form of traditional Hawaiian slack key (ki ho'alu) guitar. Their twice weekly concerts in Hanalei are a traditional treat for visitors. The concerts are set with the backdrop of the magnificent Hanalei's emerald mountains, waterfalls, taro patches, warm trade winds, and exquisite rainbows. Through their performances, people enjoy a little taste of life in old Hawaii. They've performed over 2000 educational concerts since 1999, over 2,256 sunset serenades, and received awards including #1 Best Live Show in Hawaii Magazine Readers' Choice, TripAdvisor Certificates of Excellence, Official Best Slack Key Music, and recently The Mayor of County of Kauai proclaimed August 6th as "McMaster Slack Key Day" honoring their contributions and dedication to excellence.

"UKULELE, Slack Key Style – Live on the Lanai" is their 2017 CD release. Happy, joyful slack key ukulele and kīkū (a specialized ukulele) dance on with the rhythm of the island and sweet tradewinds, rains, and birds from their lanai. Even a neighboring goat chimes in. 16 tracks bring joy and Aloha to our troubled world.

Doug & Sandy McMaster have released 14 CDs in the traditional Hawaiian slack key style:
